SERVICES

Whole-Person Assessment: A comprehensive evaluation focusing on an individual's strengths, as well as biological, psychological, social, and environmental risk factors that may impact overall health. The purpose is to create a plan to address the root causes of any deficiencies in quality of life and emotional well-being.

Health Risk Assessment: A complete health analysis targeting genetic mutations and microbial gut health testing, along with comprehensive nutritional blood panels. It focuses on potential areas of improvement for physical and emotional health, providing personalized recommendations to reduce risks, maintain well-being, and prevent or reverse disease.

Nutrition Management: An individualized nutrition screening and assessment, followed by the development and implementation of a personalized nutrition care plan, with ongoing monitoring and adjustments based on the individual's response to the provided care.

nutriTree: A mobile service providing tailored vitamin infusions based on Health-Risk Assessment and Nutrition Management reports. It addresses nutritional deficiencies to enhance cognitive function, including focus and attention, executive function such as emotional regulation, motor abilities, immunity, and long-term health.

Program available for ages 3-65+
